UNIQUE INSTITUTION

ESPERERO DE VERDUGO IN A CLASS BY ITSELF IN SERVING PEOPLE.

Esperero de Verdugo, better known as Logan's store, situated at the corner of Central avenue and Stocker street is a business establishment that is absolutely unique. Who but far seeing business men would have realized the possibilities of a large general store in what might be termed a country community, and far from any business center? This business was incorporated in 1911 and in November of the following year a fine building was erected at the present location. On the night of May 28, last year the building was fired by burglars who were looting the store and carrying away merchandise in wagons, and was burned to the ground. Before 7 o'clock the next morning this firm had bought out its competitor and was doing business, and sixty days from the time of the fire, the present commodious structure was complete.

One who has never visited the store will have little conception of the magnitude of the business. There is over half an acre of ground under one roof and the housewife may find there everything she needs in the home.

Mr. O. C. Logan is president of the corporation and manager of the business and gives his personal attention to the needs of his patrons at all times. The building is of plain but very pleasing architecture. The central entrance leads into the grocery and drug departments. Mr. E. C. Goetz, vice president of the company being in charge here with Mr. A. Campbell as prescription druggist. This department includes a soda fountain, magazines, and everything to be found in the modern drug store.

No business can prosper unless it is based on business principles and the fact that this important department is carefully looked after is very evident. The business office and credit department are in charge of Mr. B. F. Andrae who is a stockholder in the concern. The office communicates directly with the main store, with the butcher shop and with the order department. The order clerk takes orders by phone in duplicate, passes one to the bookkeeper and retains the other for his own use to be filled immediately. Ed Burlingham, a stockholder, is at the head of the order room.

The meat department is indeed a delight to the housewife's heart. Everything is white and is spick and span. Charles Sharp who reigns supreme here is said to be an expert in his line of work. There is a cold storage plant in the market and connecting with it two large cooling rooms.

The partition separating the main store from the order room is so built that goods may be taken from the shelves from either room. Another great convenience is a large cooling room in which vegetables and fruits may be kept in hot weather.

A branch of the county library has a home in this store and the people of Casa Verdugo are coming more and more to appreciate this convenience. Miss Constance Mertens is in charge of this as well as of the book department of the store.

This firm carries a large stock of hardware, paints and oils and they are at present engaged in moving this stock into a larger room, 24x80, where it will be well arranged and displayed. A room where the stock is received and checked before being taken to the different departments is a feature greatly appreciated by the manager, as is also the stock room for case goods.

The delivery department is no small affair either. This includes a sanitary stable, space for grain, and ample room for delivery wagons all under cover. An auto truck and two wagons are used in delivery and the truck makes a trip to Los Angeles every morning for stock. Mr. Henry C. Freed, secretary and treasurer of the company is in charge of the delivery department. Herman Volp is an assistant in this work.

William Safe, the solicitor makes a business of calling upon the ladies of the vicinity which is a mutual convenience to the ladies and those in charge of the store. Charles Smith, night watchman, occupies a special room in the intervals of patrolling his beat, as the company wishes to take no more chances of loss by burglary or fire.

Under the same roof is the Casa Verdugo postoffice, an attractive dry goods store of which Miss Canaris is proprietor, a jewelry stock owned by Mr. D. A. Watt and the office of Mr. Koits, real estate dealer.

When this building was erected, the company was not building for this year or next year but for years to come. They have made ample pro-

NEW ASSOCIATION

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION FORMED YESTERDAY AT P. A. CITY AVENUE SCHOOL.

About sixty mothers of Pacific avenue school children responded to the invitation sent out by the principal and teachers of the Pacific avenue school yesterday afternoon. After some time spent in viewing the fine new building, the guests gathered in Mrs. Stone's room, where they were called to order by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations. Mrs. Toll, for the benefit of those not conversant with the purposes of the work, gave briefly a few of the main points which the member strive to attain. A constitution was adopted, and the following excellent corps of officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ella W. Richardson; vice president, Mrs. S. C. Packer; secretary, Mrs. Anna W. Miller; treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Woolsey; historian, Mrs. Lucy M. Durham. Each responded with graceful remarks to the audience as each was introduced.

Mr. Richardson D. White, supervising principal of the Glendale schools, was present, and in a very earnest address, expressed his satisfaction at the extension of the Parent-Teacher work to every school in Glendale. He said that California schools are everywhere recognized for their excellence, and it is believed by many that one of the chief factors contributing to this excellence is the work of the Parent-Teacher association. "Three Institutions," said Mr. White, "enter largely into the life of the child—the school, the church and the home, and when the forces of home and school join hands and work together, the result is sure to be far reaching, and of inestimable value to the child." Mr. White further spoke on the great need that Glendale is facing for its boys and girls—the need for a vacation playground properly supervised. The vacant lots, except in outlying districts, are fast becoming filled with homes, and the children are thus being crowded into the streets for their games that require room. This is not agreeable to neighbors, and so the children must be denied their inherent right of activity, which makes for health and strength and clean minds.

Mrs. Fannie O. Stone, the principal, cordially welcomed the newly-formed Parent-Teacher association, and predicted much good to result from the activities of the association, with its able officers in the lead. Speaking for the teachers, Misses Mosher, Smith and Webster, Mrs. Stone invited the guests into a room specially decorated for the occasion, where refreshments were served daintily to all.

A NEW GRAFT.

It has come to our notice that there are a number of men going about this city and Tropico in automobiles, stopping at a house where there is a nice almond, peach or apricot tree in blossom, and telling the people that this is the time of year to trim trees; that they represent a large nursery house in Los Angeles and would advise the trees to be trimmed at once. Then they proceed to "trim" the tree very nicely, carrying away the beautiful flowering branches to sell in Los Angeles, and the best of it is they make the person who owns the trees pay them for the privilege of carting away the flowers which would mature into fruit next fall.

J. N. MCGILLIS FOR TRUSTEE.

We have been informed that following the announcement that A. B. Heacock would not be a candidate to succeed himself as a member of the board of trustees of the Glendale school district, at the election April 2, that J. N. McGillis was approached by certain citizens, and solicited to be a candidate. It is said Mr. McGillis consented to be a candidate providing his candidacy would meet with the approval of the people.

vision for the future and have anticipated a growth in business which is being steadily realized. An important policy which the management carries out is that of catering to the wants of their customers, which, it goes without saying, is appreciated and results in increased patronage.

No man can succeed in business when his only aim is to get all he can out of the other fellow, and give nothing of himself. The men of the Esperero de Verdugo company say they find pleasure in their work and in their dealings with their patrons which is after all one of the prime factors of business success.

Few would have chosen this location for so pretentious a business but the success of this corporation proves the far seeing judgment and the business ability of these men.

FACTS ABOUT NORTH GLENDALE ANNEXATION

COMMITTEE PRESENTS TO NORTH GLENDALE RESIDENTS THINGS TO BE CONSIDERED IN ANNEXATION; SAVING IN WATER AND LIGHT BILLS WITHOUT MATERIAL INCREASE IN TAXATION.

The Annexation committee desires to present to the residents of North Glendale facts relative to some of the questions that are arising.

Water service will be extended to new territory without extra cost to property owners, by using the money now in hands of Water department. No bond issue will be necessary for this, or charge be made on per front foot basis, as is required of subdividers by the Water department. When a subdivider requests service a charge is made only to cover cost till revenue from users comes in. Then original charge is refunded from time to time. There has never been a charge made for extending the service except as stated. The rate for water and plenty of it will be $1.00 minimum and 6c for each 100 cubic feet in excess.

Your light rate will be cut down to 50c minimum, (7c for the first 20 kilowatts, 5c for next 14 k., 3c thereafter.) Here is a chance for the housewife to save $6.00 on water and $3.00 on electricity, making $9.00 per year for users of the Kelly water, and a total of $6.00 for all others.

There will be no material increase in your taxes to offset this saving, as is being repeatedly stated, especially by one, C. C. McClean, a resident of Glendale, 1024 Fairview Ave. As a result of annexation of his section in 1912 his tax increase was $1.50 on an assessed valuation of $340.00, all others in proportion. Another point to remember is that your benefits will begin as soon as we are a part of Glendale but you will not pay Glendale taxes till November, 1916. Your tax this year goes to the county.

The building going on in Glendale now, as stated by Mr. Banker, city building inspector, March 20th, amounts to about $35,000.00. Some 25 residences are under construction. In North Glendale, sorry to say, we have no houses under construction and about 40 are vacant at the present time. Why? Because the water supply is inadequate and the drainage conditions are bad, making the streets impassable at times.

These conditions have existed for years. Now let us get out of the rut of inactivity and add to the wonderful natural advantages of our district, domestic water in abundance and street improvements. Then we will see houses occupied with permanent people who will be interested in keeping up the lawn and flowers and the appearance of the house by an occasional coat of fresh paint. The "For Sale" sign will find a resting place in the ash can and signs of home will be everywhere.

Some people in our district are wondering if, when they are in Glendale, the city will come along and improve their streets for them and then put a big assessment against their property when they don't want the improvement. The policy of Glendale has always been to only order street improvements when a petition is presented. A majority protest would stop the proceedings. Therefore when you are in the city you will not get improvements of this nature unless you go after them, and when you do you will get good value for the effort and money expended. All improvements which cost the property $25.00 or over may be paid in 10 annual installments, the unpaid balance drawing interest at 7% per annum. This makes it easier in case you want street work done and haven't the cash to pay it all at once.

Under the county system of improving roads you are paying 40c on $100.00 of valuation. Therefore on a valuation of $1200.00 in 10 years you have paid a sum of about $50.00. What have you got for it? After annexation, if you own a 50 foot lot you can get a 40 foot roadway of oiled street on 5 inches of rock, with cement curb and sidewalk 5 feet wide for $95.00 and pay it at approximately $10.00 per year. Take a look at 5th street in Glendale which was done at this price. The county charges for similar street work on a frontage basis after you have been paying a road tax for years in addition. It is a special concession on the part of the supervisors when they contribute a portion of the expense, as in the case of work under way on Central Ave. They are not to blame for our bad streets; they are doing the best they can—it is the system. We have outgrown it and now need the more definite street laws and government of a city like Glendale.

By annexation the road work will not be interfered with, the post office will remain where it is, water will be distributed where needed, taxes will not be materially increased and the sun will set as usual.

Therefore when deciding the vital issues don't be affected by outside influence such as is being exerted by the gentleman from Kenneth Road and the resident on Fairview Ave., but vote for your own best interests.

The committee welcomes any questions regarding the movement and will be glad to furnish the source of all information upon request.

IN MEMORIAM.

This morning at 11 o'clock an unusually large concourse of friends assembled at the Pulliam Undertaking chapel to pay their last respects to a dear departed friend and neighbor, Horace Mills Merrill, who passed from this life Monday, March 22, at his home, 116 Elrose avenue.

Mr. Merrill was born in Ohio, January 30, 1859, and spent most of his life in that state. He came to Glendale in July, 1905 and quietly but steadily won his way into the hearts of his circle of friends during his residence here. Mr. Merrill was proprietor of the Glendale Dye Works for many years and at the time of his death.

He was married December 15, 1912, to Miss Ollie Cole who survives him and who was constantly at his bedside during his illness of several weeks.

Besides the wife he leaves seven brothers and one sister: John Merrill of Boyd, Oregon; I. P. Merrill of Joplin, Missouri; Eugene Merrill of Madton, Washington; W. S. Merrill of Fortales, New Mexico; J. W. Merrill of Dalles, Oregon and S. F. Merrill, associated with the Loma Linda Sanitarium. Sister, Mrs. Minerva McMillan of Erie, Kansas.

Mr. Merrill was one of those men who practiced the scriptural injunction of not letting the right hand know what the left hand doeth. He was constantly on the watch for an opportunity of doing good in his own quiet way and many of those to whom he lent a helping hand at some time or other are mourning for him today. He was of a bright and cheerful nature and his happy disposition cheered the way of many with whom he came in touch.

The many, many exquisite floral pieces that were heaped about the casket of the departed were evidence of the love and esteem in which he was held. He was laid to rest in Forest Lawn cemetery.

That bear on California's flag is in mood to give amiable hug to millions of visitors this exposition year.

COAST ROUTE IN GOOD CONDITION.

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—With much work done by the state highway commission on the detours along the state highway between Los Angeles and San Diego within the last week, which work has been augmented by the supervisors of Orange and San Diego counties, with the completion of eleven miles of cement road between Irvine and Laguna by Orange county and the completion of a concrete road over Torrey Pines grade in San Diego county, the coast route between Los Angeles and San Diego is now in good touring condition.

Secretary Sears, of the Pasadena office of the Automobile club of Southern California has just made a trip over the route and he reports that it is in good condition. There are a few places that require care in driving but even the novice can make the trip without difficulty. The bad places are being improved and nothing less than a half inch of rain would hinder travel on the entire route.

The great improvement in the route is noticed in the increased auto travel coming into San Diego. Within the last few days more than 100 cars have made the trip and not one driver reported any trouble. The consensus of opinion is that the trip can be made in comfort and safety in seven hours although some motorists are making it in less time.

Between Los Angeles and Santa Ana there is a first class paved road all the way.

From Santa Ana through Tustin the oiled road is good.

At the southern limits of Tustin a detour of one mile to the east is made. This is good. The course is then south about one and one-half miles. Turn west and go one mile in a southerly direction to a point about one mile east of El Toro. Then west to El Toro. The entire stretch will permit of speed ranging from twenty to forty miles an hour.

EASTERN VISITORS RETURN.

Mrs. Jennie B. Dooxer and daughter, Beatrice, of Kansas City, Missouri, who have had a suite of rooms at the De Luxe apartments for the past three months, are leaving tomorrow morning over the Southern Pacific for their home, after an absence of a year, having spent a greater part of that time in the northern part of our state. They will stop over at the San Francisco fair, also at Redwood City and Salt Lake City on their return trip.

BIG CATCH.

A savage, man eating, six foot shark was captured by fishermen on Palisades beach at Santa Monica on Tuesday afternoon. The big fish was in the act of robbing nets when discovered. Sharks meat is sold for bait to fishermen angling for pompano, which fish prefer shark meat to any other.

TELLS A YEAR'S GREAT GIFTS FOR THE UNIVERSITY

The rich and varied gifts, great and small, which have been showered upon the University of California from a host of different friends during the past twelve months, were described at the annual Charter Day exercises in the Greek theater at Berkeley on Tuesday, March 23, in a statement presented by the secretary in behalf of the president and the board of regents. He said in part:

It is only through the aid of private generosity that it has been possible for the University of California to do its great task. To no other state university has private beneficence given so much. For the past dozen years this has averaged a million a year. But of all the gifts of the past, none has been more significant than the offer which now comes from the class of 1915. The men and women of the senior class have wished to express their appreciation of the opportunities which the state, the nation and private beneficence have created for them here, and so they have resolved upon the establishment of a class of 1915 fund. It is proposed that each member of the class shall insure his life in favor of the university for $100. This will be in the form of an endowment policy, the premium to be paid in 20 or in 25 installments. This will mean that at the expiration of 25 years a fund will have been accumulated of the class expects, not less than fifty thousand dollars.

The exact purpose of this fund has not as yet been determined, but it is to constitute a memorial to the memory of Dr. George Frederick Reinhardt, the founder of the infirmary, skilled physician, wise teacher, and loyal friend.

Still another memorial has been created for Dr. Reinhardt, since Mrs. Reinhardt has given to the infirmary his medical books, to constitute the George Frederick Reinhardt memorial library.

In like fashion Mrs. Christy has carried out the wish of her husband, Professor Samuel Benedict Christy, dean of the college of mining, through giving his engineering library to the mining department.

Just as the senior class has determined to create the George Frederick Reinhardt memorial fund of the class of 1915, so also the junior, sophomore and freshman classes have formally adopted the plan of insuring their lives at the time of graduation in order that each of these classes may complete, twenty years thereafter, a memorial endowment for some good purpose of the university.

The associated students as an organized body have this past year been generous donors to the university, for they have defrayed the cost of building a running track on the Hillegass tract, at an expense—which constitutes a gift to the university—of $50,000, this in addition to the gift of approximately $30,000 made by the associated students for the purchase of lands on College avenue and Sylvan way, the acquisition of which was a necessary preliminary to the realization of the plans for a new track.

It is fitting that mention be made here of another alumnus of the university whose death has summoned within these last few days. This is William R. Davis of the class of '74, good citizen, faithful servant of the university as president of the Alumni association, and as a man active in its affairs, and gratefully remembered by many a student whose way toward an education has been made smooth because of his generous act in creating, some years ago, an endowment of $5000 for a scholarship. In the Greek theater, too, stands a marble chair placed there by Mr. Davis as an old-time student's tribute of affection to his teacher of long ago—Joseph LeConte.

Three alumni classes have made gifts to the university during the past year. The class of 1914 gave a drinking fountain of marble and of bronze. The class of 1913 has given $1190, the income for a time to be used for class purposes, but this class of 1913 fund eventually to be added to the permanent endowment of the university. The class of 1877 has offered to erect, as a gift to the university a sun-dial south of the Sather Campanile.

Through the efforts of a student committee headed by Dr. Benjamin Frees, $295.50 was raised by subscription several years ago, to be expended for new tennis courts on the campus. This gift fund has now been applied toward the construction of the nine new asphalt tennis courts.

Regent Phoebe Apperson Hearst, ever loyal and generous friend of the university, during the year has defrayed the expenses of the completion of the approaches to the fountain pool, and the landscape gardening in the broad open space south of the Hearst memorial mining building, and before its other facades. Her total gift for these developments is $20,387.54. The women's swimming pool has also been constructed, a large share of its cost having been provided by her gift. She has given also since last Charter Day $1000 toward the equipment of the mining building additions to the mining museum, support for the Phoebe A. Hearst scholarships for women at the rate of $2400 per annum, $1000 per annum toward the salary of the professor of mining and metallurgy, and a like contribution for a salary for the supervising architect. She has made various gifts toward the museum collections and the library, and has contributed $1680 per annum toward the maintenance of the rich and varied collections of the museum of anthropology, themselves originally assembled through her great liberality.

The investigators of the Scripps Institution for Biological Research, of so much scientific interest and promise, are being maintained, as in the past, for the most part through the recurring annual gift of Miss Ellen B. Scripps at the rate of $9000 per annum, and of Mr. E. W. Scripps at the rate of $1500 per annum. In addition, Miss Scripps has offered a gift of a further amount of $35,000 over and above the $60,000 previously subscribed by her for like purposes, for special equipment for the Scripps institution.

Another important work of biological investigation, that of the California Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, has been continued through the generous support of Miss Annie M. Alexander. For its support during the year 1914, she gave $7580. From a friend of the university came also a gift during 1914 of $1410 as additional provision for the work of the California Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, while Associate Justice F. W. Henshaw of the California supreme court and certain of his friends gave $225 for an expedition from the museum to the breeding grounds of ducks in Northern California. In the interest of the movement for the conservation of game resources, Mr. W. J. Erskine of Kodiak, Alaska, gave 52 Alaskan birds and a number of other friends contributed valuable collections.

The museum having desired to undertake a special natural history survey of the Yosemite National park, Miss Alexander gave $500 toward the undertaking, and United States Senator James D. Phelan an additional $100.

For palaeontological investigation, too, a friend of the university has made provision through a monthly gift at the annual rate of $2400.

For "research and the cure and remedy of throat, catarrh and lung disease," Mathilde Hermann Jackson made a bequest to the infirmary of approximately $20,000.

For the maintenance of beds for cancer cases, a friend of the university has continued to give $2400 per annum.

The researches of the Lick observatory, which have resulted in such memorable contributions to our understanding of the make-up of the universe, have been greatly aided of recent years by the outposts of the Lick observatory maintained in Santiago, Chile, in the form of the D. O. Mills expedition. Mr. D. Ogden Mills has continued the support for the expedition originally provided by his father and has increased his yearly gift to $8250.

The eclipse investigations of the Lick observatory have long been an important feature of its work. As he has so often done in the past, Regent William H. Crocker again this year provided $5500 to send a Crocker eclipse expedition from the Lick observatory to observe a total eclipse of the sun—on this occasion to Russia.

Besides the gifts to the department libraries of mining and the infirmary in memory of Professor Christy and Professor Reinhardt, a large number of other gifts came to the general university library during the year. Among them were many hundred volumes given by Mr. John C. Cebrian, mostly representing Spanish literature and history, and constituting an addition to the very valuable Spanish collection which Mr. Cebrian has now assembled for the university; several hundred volumes and several thousand pamphlets, for the agricultural library; a valuable collection of scientific books, in chemistry and gas and electrical engineering, given by the estate of J. C. H. Stut, and to be divided between the departments of chemistry and electrical and gas engineering. The Knights of St. Patrick gave $100 in accordance with their annual custom, for the purchase of Irish books; Regent James K. Moffitt gave $100 to defray the university's contribution toward the expense of the joint exhibit to be made by the libraries of the country at the Panama-Pacific international exposition; and some fifty autographed copies were received by the gift of their authors, together with a number of interesting manuscripts and corrected proof sheets.

Toward the Dental department endowment fund Dr. Charles B. Porter, assistant in dental porcelain, contributed $100.

Among the additions to the various scientific museums, by the gift of various donors, were C. C. F. Sonne's bequest of 7778 sets of plants and ferns, constituting a valuable addition to the universities' collection of sea weeds, and Mrs. A. Hosmer's gift of several thousand mollusk shells, selected from the museum of the late Henry Hemphill.

The Norton company of Worcester, Massachusetts, gave an exhibit illus-

SERIOUS SIDE OF THE JITNEY INVASION.

There is a too apparent disposition here and there, and to some degree everywhere, to belittle the jitney bus, the new motor vehicle that in some American cities competes with street railways. It has a light and airy name drawn from popular invention, that inexhaustible aid and developer of the wonderfully constructed English language, and, in consequence, it is taken in a light and airy fashion by a people who, on the whole, would rather be amused than not, says the Christian Science Monitor. There is nevertheless, a serious side to the jitney bus. It has come within our province from time to time to tell all we have been able to learn of the origin of this interesting movement, to dwell on the remarkable progress it is making in small and large communities throughout the western United States. In the course of such observation as we have bestowed upon the jitney, the thing that has struck us most forcibly, and we believe our readers must have been similarly impressed, is the ease with which the people of widely separated communities adapt themselves to the new style of intramural transportation, the readiness with which they become accustomed to it, the enthusiasm with which they hail it as a solution of one of the most incessantly pressing problems of modern communal existence.

It is no light matter, it is a very serious matter, when Vancouver, B. C., to all appearances takes as kindly and as quickly as does Kansas City, Mo., to the new means of rapid urban transit. How serious it is, from an economic viewpoint, may be judged from the fact that the jitney bus service started in a small way in Vancouver on the first of last January, and that there are now 350 such vehicles in operation in that city, and that their monthly receipts aggregate $80,000, while the earnings of the street railways are reduced correspondingly. Traction companies everywhere, and those who have been active in the reformation of traction policies, do not, for entirely dissimilar reasons, take kindly to the intrusion of the jitney. It disturbs the business of the former, it interferes with the uplifting plans of the latter. If the jitney bus continues in the next three years to make headway in the ratio of the last three months the traction question as the United States has known it through agitation extending over thirty years evidently will have vanished from public discussion.

In Vancouver the municipality draws revenue from the traction service. The street railways under normal conditions have paid about $3000 a month into the city treasury. The British Columbia Electric Railway company, which has an exclusive franchise in that community, reported a decrease of 1,138,333 passengers carried in January as compared with the corresponding month of the year 1914. If the earnings of the company fall off the percentage of those earnings payable to the municipality also must fall off. The jitney in Chicago, judged by experience elsewhere, would mean an immense loss to the municipality in the reduction of privilege percentages now being paid by the street car companies.

There must, it appears to us, be a complete change in the traction policies of cities, especially with regard to the terms of franchise, as a consequence of the invasion of the jitney, if the equities are to be observed. It will not be just to impose upon the existing companies the entire burden of the loss occasioned by what promises to be a revolution in urban transportation. As a means of preventing the reckless sacrifice of private interests to public needs, it may be that municipal monopoly of urban transportation, under conditions fair to all concerned, will be a satisfactory way out.

Miss Florence Dominguez Appel, Queen Candidate in Whose Honor Glendale Knights of Pythias Gave Ball Wednesday Evening

Mrs. George Meldo Harrison and two children of 1557 Myrtle street, spent Wednesday at Santa Monica on the beach.

Next Monday evening the Camp Fire Girls will have a banquet in the basement of the Baptist church, at which time Miss Lonsberry of the Los Angeles Y. W. C. A. will be out and will speak to the girls and spend the evening with them.

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan of Chicago, that they will leave in a few days for California and while here will visit Mrs. Logan's sister, Mrs. William Harvey of 151 West Tropic avenue and another sister who lives in Pasadena.

Clifton, the two year old son of Pierson Hanning, who conducts a barber shop on Brand Boulevard fell from a shed at his home, 1622 Oak street, Tuesday, and cut his forehead badly. Two stitches were required to close the wound. The child has been quite ill since the accident.

COMPLIMENTS MRS. STRONG.

Mrs. C. E. Anderson of 201 North Louise street gave a very pretty luncheon today complimentary to Mrs. Robert Strong of Los Angeles. Decorations were of calla lilies and smilax and were very pretty. Luncheon was at 1 o'clock and bridge was played during the afternoon. Covers were laid for twelve, most of whom were out of town guests, and a very delightful afternoon was enjoyed by all.

ROBINSON BROS. HAVE ADDED NEW ADDITION TO STORE

NEW LIFE ADDED.

While the Baptist church has always enjoyed a large prayer meeting and enthusiasm above the average it is clearly to be seen that the Brown and Curry revival has imparted new life and greatly increased the attendance at the midweek service. Last night, the gathering overflowed into the main auditorium and the testimonies, sometimes three at a time, came with divine spontaneity. The invitation was responded to by a large number of very promising converts and Sunday evening will witness the largest baptismal service in the history of the First Baptist church of Glendale.

The opening of the study of first and second Corinthians was greeted with great interest. Baptists have no creed or book of discipline that is binding on all their churches, the New Testament alone being their rule for church organization and practice. Especially is first Corinthians important as a guide to church order. Many questions are here answered with divine authority, questions which perplex many. The entire outline of these books will appear later.

CLOTHING NEEDED.

Mrs. D. W. Hunt of 121 West Fifth street has received a letter from Miss Temm, a former resident of Glendale for many years, who now resides in England. The letter contains an appeal for blankets and clothing for some Belgian sufferers who are in a hospital near where Miss Temm lives at Pasadena, England, the place being named for Pasadena, California, and she asks that the things be sent so as to reach them by April 6th, which is King Albert's Day. If there is anyone in Glendale who can give something for these worthy people, if they will send their gifts to either Mrs. D. W. Hunt, or Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, 226 East First street, they will be forwarded to England at once.

PEOPLE ARE REASONABLE.

It is not often that people of Glendale are unreasonable in their dealings. In reference to asking complimentary notices to be published in The Evening News giving publicity to entertainments and other events it is the custom to favor The News with such printing as is necessary to use in connection with the fair as a substantial "thank you" token. Very seldom nowadays you find any one so unreasonable that he wants everything and is unwilling to give anything.

EASTERN STAR SOCIAL.

A most delightful program is promised all who attend the party to be given this evening by Glen Eyrie chapter at the Masonic hall. This is the regular meeting of the chapter and all visiting members are cordially invited to be present. The guests who are not members of the Order of the Eastern Star will be tendered a reception, in the parlors of the temple, during the formal opening and closing of chapter.

CALIFORNIA RIPE OLIVES.

The movement of the California Ripe Olive-Day association to popularize the ripe olive pickles of California is under way, and as a most commendable enterprise, says the California Home and Farmer. Ripe olive pickles are a comparatively recent product in California, although they have been from time immemorial a standard food product in Italy, where it is reported upon good authority that a common lunch for the Italian workingman consists in the main of bread and ripe olive pickles, and that it is possible—in fact, it is a common practice—for them to perform hard manual labor and keep their bodily strength upon such fare.

Italian residents and citizens of California retain their old habits of eating liberally ripe olive pickles, as well as the olive oil, the former being considered by them as very appetizing as well as nutritious, and the oil as a very acceptable substitute for meat, and more conducive to health.

Twenty years ago ripe olive pickles were scarcely known in California markets. J. Z. Anderson, a pioneer resident of Santa Clara county, was among the first, if not the first, to prepare ripe olives for market in large quantities, which he did very successfully. At that time the process of pickling was considered to be a tedious and difficult one, but with practice and familiarity it became, like the grafting of the walnut, a simple and easy thing to do, only requiring a few simple and common-sense rules, which almost any person of average intelligence might follow with success.

Home-pickled olives may be likened to home-made bread, in that the product may vary according to the proper application of the principles involved. Some of our best bread-makers do not follow a hard and fast rule, but use their "bread sense" in putting together the materials necessary, and also in baking. In a similar manner a person may use his "olive-pickling sense," and produce as fine olive pickles as may be made by most careful attention to methods and rules.

The preparation of ripe olive pickles means the elimination of the bitterness that is present in greater or less degree in all ripe olives, and to accomplish that result without the loss of the oil, which is self-evidently the nutritious element in the olive pickle. This may be done, and was done at first, by providing a constant flow of water through the olives, in barrels or other vessels, and afterward adding salt to preserve them. This was a very slow process, however.

The use of lye to remove the bitterness is the general practice, and the amount to use, together with the length of time to leave the olives in the solution, like grandmother's bread-making, cannot be governed by any set rule. The putting in of "just enough so that it will be good" applies to olive pickling, and is governed very much by the "olive-pickling sense" of the operator. Too much lye will neutralize the oil, and leave the pickles insipid to the taste and lacking in nutrition.

As olive culture may be successfully prosecuted in many sections of California, either for "oil" or "pickling" olives, or both, it seems very appropriate at this time, when our eastern friends are here and the possibilities of our state are being exploited at the big fair and elsewhere, that their attention be called to the merits of the ripe pickled olive, as one of our delicious and nutritious food products. It has been said that people must learn to eat ripe pickled olives, and thus may be true in some instances, but even so, let us do our duty in this case and give them an early opportunity to do, at the fair and elsewhere.

(rating the manufacture of abrasive wheels and aluminum and crysolon sharpening tools of the various sorts.

The Denver Rock Drill Manufacturing company gave a Clark air meter, and the Electric Manufacturing company of New York gave a galvanometer.

Among other gifts were that of a static machine and accessories, for the use of the Physics department, by Dr. George H. Rosenthal, $800 for various appurtenances for the university by Dr. Herbert C. Moffitt, $102 to be applied toward a color plate for a paper in Protozoology in the university's publications in Zoology, given by a friend of the university, and an interesting medal and two eighteenth century American coins given by Charles H. Dwinelle of Santa Rosa, lecturer in practical agriculture in the university of California from 1878 to 1885.

By the bequest of Frederick W. Dohrmann, regent of the university from 1903 to 1914, $5000 is to be added to the endowment of the university, to be used for the benefit of the members of the faculty in times of family illness or other emergency.

A number of generous provisions have been made for scholarships or loan funds. Mr. F. W. Bradley, '86, has continued his gift at the rate of $1000 per annum for the Mining students' loan fund; the Native Sons of the Golden West have continued their contribution at the rate of $3000 per annum for the maintenance of traveling and resident fellowships for investigations in the history of the Pacific coast; Levi Strauss and company have continued their annual gift of $3500 for the maintenance of the Levi Strauss scholarships for young men and for young women; Mrs. Frederick Ferdinand Moore (Eleanor Gates, '03) of distinction as playwright and novelist, has given $600 to maintain the Eleanor Gates Scholarship for two years, this representing the rate of the Phoebe A. Hearst Scholarship held by Mrs. Moore herself for two years; a graduate of '04 who wishes her name withheld, has given $500 to maintain a scholarship for four years, this representing the return of a Levi Strauss Scholarship held from 1900 to 1904; twelve alumnae have given $125 for a scholarship for 1914-15, the donors being Annis Ostrander, Irene Alexander, Edith Hunt, Naomi Fiewiger, Irene Hall, Emily Gray, Jennie Hosmer, Mary Keyes, Mignon Harmon, (Mrs.) Lucia Mille Devore, Hazel Land and Phoebe Jane Matthews; the maintenance of the San Jose high school scholarship has been continued at the customary rate of $125 per annum; an additional amount of $94.82 has come from the estate of Helen J. DuBois, to be added to the $4921.69 heretofore inherited by the regents as endowment for this Du Bois scholarship; the Snell Seminary Alumnae association has given $300 to found the Snell Seminary Memorial Loan Fund for women students, preferably those who are descendants of Snell Seminary students; Albert Bonheim has continued his annual gift of $250 to the Bonheim Essay Contest and the Bonheim discussion Prizes; and the Board of Education of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America and the Congregational Educational society have given $383.33 and $75 respectively, for aid to such students as may be designated by these organizations; the State Rivers and Water Supply Commission of Victoria, Australia, has given two hundred pounds for electrical engineering scholarships, and the Preston School of Industry, maintained by the State of California at Ione has established three fellowships of the annual value of $500 each, together with room and board at the school, for students of the university for investigation in Agriculture, Law, Political Science, Social Economics, Applied Psychology, or Medicine; and Mr. Rudolph J. Taussig in accordance with his yearly custom has given $100 as the Bryce Historical Essay Prize.

For the establishment of scholarships in agricultural pursuits intended primarily for use at the University Farm, Claud M. Boye of Mills station, Sacramento county, has left to three trustees the sum of $10,000, and an additional $20,000 to Judge Peter J. Shields of Sacramento. Judge Shields has announced that the income of the entire $30,000 is to be voted to scholarships for graduates of the Kinney School near Mills Station.

By the will of the late Hugo A. Taussig, $10,000 was left to trustees as an endowment to be used toward the higher education of women. Mr. Taussig's trustees were Mrs. Hugo A. Taussig, Mrs. Lewis W. Allan, Dr. Nellie L. Treat and Dr. George E. Ebright. These trustees have now converted the original $10,000 together with the accrued income to the regents as endowment for the Bertha Healdke Taussig Memorial Scholarship for women students in art, architecture or literature. The scholarship may be awarded either to resident student or as a traveling scholarship.

A thousand dollars was added during the year to the endowment fund for the University Y. W. C. A., which has been placed in the trusteeship of the regents.

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, through additions to its pension list, now disburses $18,629.64 per annum in retiring allowances for members of the faculty of the University of California and for pensions for widows of former members of the faculty. This means to say that the income on approximately $400,000 endowment of the Carnegie Foundation is now devoted to pensions for members of the University of California.

Such have been the year's chief gifts. But a host of other friends of the university have contributed in various fashion—a book to the library, a plant to the herbarium, a specimen for the museum, a clause in a will.

It is only this generosity of private donors which has made possible the work of the University of California.

And now the people of California have voted $1,800,000 for additional permanent buildings on the campus—the completion of the library, and the erection of a classroom building, a chemistry building, and an additional unit of the agricultural group. In no uncertain tone they have said—the University is ours, its work shall not be hampered or impaired, the noble project of the Hearst plan shall be embodied in beautiful and enduring actuality.
